

Cut out both pages on the dotted lines. Then tape box 4 to 5 and 12-13. Then fold the whole thing in half lengthwise so you can see boxes 1 through 8 on one side and boxes 9 to the title page on the other. While the parent is assembling the book, the child can color the pictures. Then the child cuts out the pictures and glues them in the right spots. Then you read it together. (I thank Joyce Crissman Knight for the drawings and construction ideas!)
