In the end Pharaoh said, "Get out!" He was angry and sad and done with having God's people as his slaves. He just wanted them to go away! These words happen when a little sibling shows up in your space when you are trying to make a great lego city or a tower, right? You are suddenly afraid that little kid is going to mess it all up! When your little sister or brother comes into your room, are you tempted to say, "Get out!"?

What is a better way to have time for yourself than to get angry with your brother or sister? Talk about it right now with a parent so that next time you want to say, "Get out!" you can do something else instead!
